Our Roots

After a decade of friendship, a couple of Orange County natives partnered to start Crest Pest Control. They saw a market flooded with uninspired, corporate-feeling options or companies that locked customers into aggressive long-term contracts. They knew there was room for something better: personable, modern, and built with pride. Their aim isn't just to clean up logos and uniforms - it's to build businesses people are proud to own, work for, and be customers of.
